JANAVITZ BOY'S CASE FOR DAMAGES VS. P. & L. E.

Tomorrow afternoon in Greensburg the suit for damages brought by Mrs. Max Janavitz against the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad company will be up for trial. The suit is the out come of an accident that occurred during last summer when Morris Janavitz, the 9 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Janavitz had one of his legs taken off by a train that was being shifted at the Third street crossing. A crowd of young boys were returning from the ball grounds about 6 o'clock in the evening and tried to cross over while a string of cars were standing along the siding, the little Janavitz boy was caught and his leg crushed. He was taken to the McKeesport hospital where after months of treatment he was finally able to leave his bed.

The suit which is not for any definite amount of damages will be pushed to the utmost by Mrs. Janavitz and she is confident that the verdict of the jury will be a favorable one. Smith and Snyder of Greensburg have been employed for the plaintiff to handlle the case. Among the witnesses from here who have been subpoenaed to appear are: Jacob Leigehber, Dr. H. W. Day, F. H. Shutterly, James Laird, William Rogers, Dr. A. R. Wilson, Andy Skirpan, William Landers, Earl Taylor and Andy Dubelick.

LOCAL HOUSE TO HAVE OWN STOCK COMPANY

Manager W. A. McSnaffrey of the Star theatre is busy these days organizing what will be known the McShaffery Stock Company which will, it is thought, be ready for business week of May 20. To this end Mac has called to his aid Will F. McNulty, one of the best and most experienced theatrical men in the business who will direct the company. Next week will be one of high class vaudeville to be followed by the presentation of the new company in the highest order of drama, comedy and music. Great care is being exercised in the selection of people and none will be included unless they are capable. So Monessen folk can look forward to something exceptionally fine—a theatrical company Monessen can claim as her own. We all know McShaffrey won't have anything about his house but the best.

PRESS CLUB ENTERTAINED AT CALIFORNIA

The Monongahela Valley Press Club held its monthly meeting at California Saturday, the guest of the State Normal College, and with a good attendance the afternoon and evening were highly enjoyed. The program as arranged by the officials and faculty was carried out with general Superintendent Frank Craven at the helm, and he proved himself to to be no novice in the art of "steering"—a social affair at least.

Dinner was served at five o'clock in the college dining parlor, the students and newspaper men being served at once, but the latter having tables especially set apart and arranged for them. The spread was one which did credit tc the caterers as well as the instituton and the scribes showed their appreciation by partaking heartily.

Immediately after dinner Tom P. Sloan of West Monessen by special request delivered a very appropriate and pleasing talk., he having at one time been a student of that instituton. He later became an instructor for a time; then was county superintendent of schools; after that county commissioner, eventually drifting into journalism. His remarks were heartily received.

After dinner the business meeting was held in Manager Craven's office at which Editor Wylie of the Elizabeth Herald read a paper on "Advance Subscription." This brought out some discussion and after some talk over other topics and attention to regular business the meeting was adjourned to meet at Fredericktown in June at the invitation of Philip Hileman, Editor of the Chronicle. The college students voted unanimous invitation to the newspaper men to return and be entertained by them next year.

Birthday Social at M. E. Church

The members and friends of the Methodist Sunday School enjoyed Friday evening very much, the occasion being another of their pleasing "birthday socials." There was a large number in attendance and while the hours passed pleasantly to the extreme, the affair was a success financially as well. The social was gotten up and carried out by the members whose birthdays occurred within a month and all surely done their duty, for everybody was pleased and had a good time.

STRONG PAGE A. A. TEAM WINS IN THE OPENING GAME AGAINST PITTSBURG TEAM

On Saturday afternoon before a crowd estimated at about 1,500 people, the Page A. A. opened their 1912 season with a victory over St. Peter's Lyceum of Pittsburgh by the close score of 4-3. Both teams put up a fast article of ball considering that it was their first game and then too the field was not in the best of condition and this made the playing slow at times.

Kock for the visitors pitched gilt edged ball but did not receive very good support at times but several bone head plays they pulled off were responsible for two of the locals runs. For Page, Ryan twirled good ball. He was not however in the best of form. Tom Underwood caught a good game, capturing several high fouls that looked out of reach. Rivers timely bingles netted two runs for Page, who along with Pat Savage carried off the locals end of the batting honors. Elmer Hogg is back from Southern Michigan and his appearance in the line up was loudly applauded by the rooters. The score:

EVERYBODY CAN NOW GET THE TIME O'DAY

The Daily Independent office is the proud possessor of a fine new eight-day office clock, coming from the complimentary hands of the whole-souled piano dealer, I. D. Sacket of McKeesport. It is a dandy, nicely lettered, and placed in such a position in our front office that everybody traveling up or down Sixth street can readily know the time of day or evening. Standard and correct time is maintained. The time-piece is of course, new, and may require a little time to get just on the right tick, but it is regulated every day and our friends can rest assured of its being pretty near "on the dot" every time. Mr. Sacket is one among the most reliable and gentlemanly salesman of musical instruments that comes to Monessen. He has many friends here who can speak equally well of him, and we can assure all that he will treat them honestly and squarely in a business deal. So anyone desiring to talk piano would do well to see Sackett.

RECORDS WERE BROKE AT A LOCAL MILL

The master hands at the Carnegie Steel Hoop mill has again done glory to themselves and the "little mill" by smashing all previous records. During the last week of April 441 gross tons of barrel hoop were turned from the eight inch mill, eight tons better than the best former record. During April the record was 1,783 tons of finished product against the previous high record of March 1910 of 1,771 tons, with six turns less to make the latter record than the former.

Andy B. Scott having severed his connection with this plant January 1st on account of failing heatlh, has been succeeded by J. M. Hoffman, with Andrew Ebenhoch as assistant. Prior to this change Mr. Hoffman was master mechanic and is fully conversant with the workings of the plant, that knowledge being greatly to advantage in the excellent records being made at this busy little mill of a great company.

CHANGE IN SYSTEM WILL BENEFIT MONESSEN

By a new system for securing long distance tolls out of the district, the Bell Telephone Co., has greatly improved its long distance service at several places. Monessen has had improved long distance service for 15 months but the efficiency will be increased about 50 per cent under the new order of things. The new system to be used is for long distance operators at Monongahela to handle all the calls for the district between that point and California.

By the toll system which was formerly in vogue, Monessen and other towns had long distance service through their local offices, Monessen having three lines to Pittsburgh. With the change there are thirteen lines form Monongahela to Pittsburgh and the improvement in this is that where before a subscriber had one out of a half dozen chances to get a prompt Pittsburgh connection they now have one chance out of thirteen. Other toll offices reached by long distance connection are similarly provided. All in all there are 49 toll lines now running into the Monongahela office.

Gov. Tener Pays Speeding Fine

Governor John K. Tener a few days ago paid a fine for exceeding the speed limit while passing through Reading in his automobiile recently. He was notified by Chief Green that if fine and costs amounting to $1.25 were not paid within a reasonable time the state would be asked to revoke his license

The governor sent his personal check with a letter stating that while the state, the owner of the car, could not be sued, the governor desired to live up to the law. It was stated the there was no intention to exceed the limit, and that he had gone through the town a dozen times at the same speed before while on business for the state, but no notice was given to him.

As an echo hurled back from a distant hill is resounded the faint yet distinct notes in answer to the many queries put forth during the three or four months past by Monessen folk and by the people of other progressive towns and cities all over the land, and that echo comes all the way from Minneapolis, Minn., where is now being held the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. And in that echo we can distinctly hear the words that "The American people are too far advanced to longer be restricted by church rules as to what their amusements shall be. The rule prohibiting dancing, card playing, gambing, and going to theatres, circuses, horse races etc., should be abolished."

The above is the gist of a report presented to the General Conference by the Board of Bishops, and is just a faint echo, as it were, of what some of the greatest and wisest heads of one of the world's strongest religious institutions think should be. "Rather far-fetched," we think we hear some say. Well not so very, it woud seem to one on mature deliberation. Our great and—we have every reason to think—good men at, and seeking to be at, the head of our government and poitical affairs, send back to our ears the same faint but audible echo, self government, or in other words, "let the people rule." They too, seem to believe our people are too intelligent, too far advanced, too great, to longer be restricted. So, from both Church and State the echo comes the same. The people are capable, or at least should be, to decide themselves, without restriction or coertion that which is right and that which is wrong. Thus in recommending this radical change in church rule or regulation the twenty-four active bishops stipulated that the Church should not be wholly indifferent on these subjects but a watchful eye should be ever kept. But the lee-way is given the people to judge for themselves what they deem right and what they think wrong in the way of choosing their amusements, having ever before them the injuction of John Westley which forbade "the taking of such diversions as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus."

The bishops declared the church reiterated its oppositon to theatre-going and gambling, but the rule in force since 1872 could not fix a point between "the turf and the stock market." Hence again comes the echo from the Church of God and the Ship of State that it is time to give us as a people time and opportunity to rule ourselves; to rely upon our own good judgment and the dictates of conscience as too that which is right or that which is not right. We've had the teachings, the way pointed out for to these many long years, and now it's coming to the test. Can we walk alone? We know what we should do, will we do it? That's the echo that comes from the General Conference of the great Methodist Church at Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Basketball Team in Trouble

The Uniontown basketball team is up against a peck of troubles. They seem to be in debt considerably and are being pushed pretty hard by creditors. Hence Judges Van Swearingen has appointed a receiver at the request of a number of sports who are interested. The association owns a pretty nice outfit. A well-furnished auditorium and completely equipped gymnasium, as well as owning a franchise in the Central League and having under contract a full team outfit for the coming season. There is a strong sentiment in the team's favor and all possible effort is being made to get them in clear sailing.

SLEEPS WELL AT NIGHT

If you want to know how a man feels who has allowed his health to break down, and then finds a way of regaining it, just read this letter from Joseph J. Fagan, of New York City.

"Nearly all last winter I was in poor health owing to a general run-down condition. I had very little appetite and did not sleep well.

"In March I began to take your delicious cod liver and iron preparation Vinol, and soon noticed a great improvement in my health. My appetite returned, and I can now enjoy my meals and get good rest at night.

"I have not felt better for years than I have since taking Vinol." Mr. Fagan did not risk a cent to get well for his money would have been paid back if Vinol had not helped him.

We don't see how any person in poor health, weak, pale, nervous or unable to sleep can hesitate a moment about beginning the use of Vinol. We have known Vinol to make so many people healthy and strong again, that we recommend it to you with the greatest confidence. Hirsch Drug Co., Monessen, Pa.

Fay Brown's Decision

By Rosalie G. Mendel

"Don't let's talk about it any more, John," pleaded Fay Brown. "It's just like going around in a circle without reaching any conclusion."

"I like you tremendously. I am even fond of you; but I don't know and never can love you in the way I must love the man I marry. Consider this final, John—there's no more to be said on the subject."

"It's easy enough to say 'consider this final.' I'll do no such thing; I'll continue asking until you accept from sheer weariness of listening to my proposals. May be you love me and don't know it yourself—such things have happened before."

After a short silence, John said: "Tell me, is there someone else?"

"No; how could there be when you monopolize about eight of my evenings a week?"

"Well, I'm glad to know I have a clean field," said John

"A lot of good it will do you," laughed Fay.

"Let's be serious, dear heart," said John. "In a month I return to Panama to be gone for three years. When I left there to come home for my vacation two months ago, I hoped and prayed that you would go back with me. Our congenial correspondence, your inspiring letters, our beautiful friendship of four years' duration, made me feel that we were made for each other Just as if it were written in the book—and now you say nothing but 'No, no, no.'

"Is it the distance that frightens you, girl?"

"No, decidedly not," promptly answered Fay "Love knows no distance—with the right man I would go to the equator"

"Is It the Distance That Frightens You?"

"Well, why under the sun am I not the right man?"

"I simply don't understand it myself," answered the girl. "But I can't work up any sentiment regarding you, try as I will"

"In this city you have neither kith nor kin," went on John. "There isn't a soul here who needs you. You are existing in a two by-four hall bedroom, teaching each day a lot of unappreciative kids Oh, Fay, come with me! I could give you so much love and life I want you. By George! how I want you."

"Good night, John Bruce; I can't stand any more tonight. You make me unhappy—miserable I can never do as you wish, it's absolutely impossible. Don't try to persuade me In a weak, lonesome moment I might accept—then maybe you and I would regret it for always.

"I have never loved you—I don't love you now, and I never will love you. That's all."

"Good night, good night, little girl, good night and good bye. I am a brute and a beast to worry you. A week from today a steamer leaves for Panama with me on board. I won't see you again It hurts too much Write often. I need your letters."

"Good bye—and God bless you, Johnny," said Fay as he wrung her hand

Six weeks later Fay received a cablegram from Panama stating, "John Bruce's leg amputated; dangerously ill; wished you to be notified Signed, Chas Garthler"

Fay quickly answered: "Inform John Bruce I can't stay away, because—because I love—him."

An Englishman's Retort.

He had just arrived from old England and his friend, a prominent clubman, was showing him the city. In our suburbs they noticed a neatly fixed-up candy store, which greatly surprised the stranger, and he inquired how that could be made to pay. The clubman remarked in answer:

"Why, I don't believe he can make his salt there."

The Englishman seemed bewildered, and adjusting his monocle, said:

"How strange! Do you expect a man in this country to make salt in a sweet shop?"

Haw! Haw!

CHANNEL OF RIVER IS BEING DREDGED DEEPER

The Government dredge boat, No. 2 and the T. P. Roberts are busily at work these days dredging the Monongahela river at a point opposite Monessen, just a short distance below Lock Four in order to give greater depth to the channel and make a more safe passage for heavily loaded or large craft of more than ordinary draught.

Shortly below Lock 4, as can be easily noted, is rather a short bend in the stream which many times makes it rather difficult for boats to get squared around and underway after being locked through. This bend is being eliminated as much as is possible and a straighter line being given to the channel proper.

The U S Steamer Swan and crew of the department of engineering is located at Lock Four with headquarters at the Government yards at West Monessen This boat has just completed a ten day visit to the government light stations along the Monongahela and Ohio rivers, delivering supplies and repainting the signals. Supplies were delivered to more than eighty light stations along the Monongahela between the Ohio state line and Morgantown, W. Va., Capt. A E McGrew is in charge.

SECOND BIG WEEK OPENS AT THE STAR

Tonight the Knickerbocker Stock will commence their second week at the Star where they played to a big business all last week and became very popular. The opening play for the second week is one of the strongest in the company's repertoire. It is the great sensational comedy drama in four acts entitled, "A Dangerous Game." This is a play that all should see It has been produced in all the large cities at advanced prices and certainly is a rare treat for theatregoers at the popular low prices 10 and 20c—no higher. It abounds in good comedy and will make you laugh until you cry. The climaxes are of the most sensational kind and the dramatic situations are of the sort that hold you spellbound. Great pains have between taken in casting this piece and each person is seen at his best. "A Dangerous Game" possesses a moral as well as its amusing qualities and no one should miss seeing this great play—Don't forget, it's tonight at the Star and the prices only 10 and 20 cents No more, so reserve your seats in advance.
